The vote on the re-mployment office proposal was 79 to 12.

THREE MEALS A DAY

The opening of the Lenten season, March 6, and the beginning of National Canned Salmon Week, March 1, remind us of the delicious and healthful dishes which can be prepared with canned salmon.

You can create hundreds of tempting dishes which take but a few minutes to prepare and which provide interesting variation for usual menus. Here are just a few of the delicious dishes you can prepare with canned salmon: Canned salmon loaf, canned salmon souffile, jellied canned salmon, canned salmon croquets, canned salmon souffile, jellied canned salmon ned salmon sandwich and canned salmon calls for more frequent use. practically an unknown quantity. To-day the salmon tin is found from the arctics to the tropics, from Madagas-car to Madrid, from the rice fields of New Guinea to the cliff-dwellings of

New York city.

Wonderful advances have been made in salmon canning in the 70 years since it was first discovered, improvements in the container, in canning machinery, in methods of catching, handling, dressing and packing the fish.

Here are some favorite canned salmon recipes:

Flake the salmon and add seasoning. Cook bread crumbs in milk five minutes. Add the salmon and baten egg yolks, then cut and fold in stiffly heaten egg whites. Turn into a buttered dish, place in a pan of hot water. Bake in moderate oven until firm.

Jellied Canned Salmon.

Two cups canned salmon, 2 tablespoons granulated gelatine, 1-2 cup cold water, 1-2 cup boiling water, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons vinegar or lemon juice, 1-4 teaspoon pepper, 2 tablespoons tomato catsup, 1 cup mayonnaise, 2 hard-boiled eggs, 12 chopped stuffed olives.

Soften the gelatine in the cold water, then dissolve in hot water. Flake the canned salmon and add the salt, pepper, vinegar and catsup, then the dissolved gelatine and mayonnaise.

Decorate a previously wet mold with a few slices of hard-boiled eggs and part of the stuffed olives. Chop the remainder of the olives and add to the fish mixture. As soon as this mixture begins to set, turn it into the decorated mold. Chill, unmold and serve with mayonnaise. Serves six.

Thus dinner at home may be as interesting and far less expensive than "dinner down town." Then, too, no matter how much the glamor of teakwood and rich tapestries, the atmosphere at home engenders the carefree spirit akin to meal time pleasure. Particularly is this true when the chop suey or chow mein is made with ingredients which are processed and packed by Americans in this country.

T'S THE largest selling ketchup in the world. Folks everywhere are thankful that such a rich delicacy may be had for a small sum at the corner grocer's.

It takes a lot of money and time to make Heinz Ketchup so good. The tomatoes come from special plants, reared in Heinz greenhouses from pedigreed seeds, then transplanted to supny fields. The spices are selected by Heinz own experts in Oriental gardens. The blending is secret and the simmering is slow.

Do not be without this glorious sauce. Use it in cooking to enhance simple dishes, to put new vigorous flavor in twice-cooked leftovers. Put it on the table at every meal.

Arnall Honored by Jaycees; Howell Envisages Air Gains

Ellis Arnall, speaker pro tem of the Georgia house of representatives and former president of the Georgia Junior Chamber of Commerce, is the proud possessor of the distinguished service cross of the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce. The cross, the second to be awarded a Georgian, was presented at a luncheon of the Jaycees Thursday. Mr. Arnall, right, s being congratulated by Everett G. Jackson, president of the Atlanta Junior Chamber. Staff photo by George Cornett.

The United States is on the threshold of the greatest transportation development the world has ever seen paid high tribute to Speaker Pro Tem.

Arnall, whose career he said he had velopment the world has ever seen through the advancement of aviation, and progress in the air in the next few years will transcend anything ever dreamed of, Clark Howell Sr., editor of The Atlanta Constitution and chairman of President Roosevelt's aviation board, told members of the Atlanta Junior Chamber of Commerce Thursday at a luncheon meeting in the Ansley hotel.

The meeting, a testimonial luncheon honoring Ellis G. Arnall, speaker pro tem. of the Georgia house of representatives, was attended by members of the legislature, officers and directors of the senior Chamber of Commerce, civic leaders, of the community and a record turnout of junior directors of the senior Chamber of Commerce, civic leaders of the community and a record turnout of junior chamber members.

Mr. Arnall was awarded the distinguished service cross of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce in recognition of his outstanding civic leadership as president of the Georgia Jaycees. He is the second Georgian to receive this award. The medal was presented by Everett G. Jackson, president of the Atlanta junior chamber.

Mr. Howell told of the tremendous strides being made in commercial aviation, and after pointing out that the United States is far ahead of Europe in the development of commercial air lines, predicted that this country could, within a comparatively few weeks, assume just as much supremacy in military aviation.

Plans now in progress for regular commercial flights by heavier-thanair craft over both the Pacific and the Atlantic during 1935 were announced by Mr. Howell in his address.

"Before the end of 1935, commer-

Even now a ship is being out in Los Angeles which will transport sufficient supplies for ten men for a six-month period to Wake is-land, a barren isle east of Honolulu that will be one of the base stations on the route. "Planes operating on regular schedules will fly from the Pacific coast to Honolulu, thence to Wake Island, then on to Midway Island, from thence to Gaum and then to the Philippines. There, the Dutch line will join with Pan-American in completing the round-the-world route."

Mr. Howell said the first Pacific flight over the route outlined would flight over the route outlined would be made before July 1 and that reg-ular service will be instituted soon

Pan-American is now negotiating

"Pan-American is now negotiating for the establishment of regular air service between New York and the Azores, to connect with the Imperial Airways of Great Britain, the final link in globe aviation," the speaker declared. "It is expected that this line, too, will be in operation by July or shortly thereafter."

Defending lighter-than-air craft, Mr. Howell said Germany has shown what can be done and "what Germany can do, we can do." The Macon disaster, he declared, should be a challenge to American ingenuity.

"Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the Graf Zeppelin, appeared before our committee in Washington and told us of his experiences," Mr. Howell declared. "He has made 60 trips across the ocean, been around the world once and has never missed a schedule. Germany is now building and the state of the state of the second of the world once and has never missed a schedule. Germany is now building and the second of the schedule. Germany is now building a new Zeppelin half again as big as the Graf, and our committee recommended to the president that the United States build a lighter-than-air craft of similar dimensions.

Industry has surged forward steadily since last September. Durindustry has surged forward steadily since last September. During the last 60 days it has maintained the level of about 90 per cent of normal operations. This has brought factory employment up to 81 per cent of normal and wages to 67 per cent, leaving wages, however, still somewhat out of line.

Retail business has remained about the same during this five-month industrial surge, operating at about 75 per cent of normal. The railroads are still lagging around 65 per cent of normal, but are showing improvement. The general price level has been mounting for five months, but only because foods affected by the drouth are soaring temporarily. Other prices have not shown much change.

It contains figures compiled by various government and private agencies, brought up to date by expert private estimates for

Each figure (except prices) is based on the 1923-25 averages as 100, All figures, except pay rolls, are adjusted for seasonal variations so that they accurately reflect where we stand without SHADOWS Behind this bright picture is the fact that certain industrial lines have been easing up slightly during the last two weeks of February. This is noticeable particularly in steel, but not in industry generally.

At the same time there has been a renewal of private talk among businessmen about uncertainty. This time it is based on congress. The indefiniteness of NRA reorganization, the latest bank bill, the rail bills, the holding company legislation and the possibility of further tax proposals are more or less responsible of uncertainty may not be entirely justified, but it exists.

Whether it will have any important effect on March and April business involves a guess on which competent observers are

FACTORS

The reason steel dropped was because automobile production is leveling off. Therein you have the best example of why it is difficult to gauge the immediate prosnects of industry.

Steel production reached a maximum of 55 per cent three weeks ago, but it will soon be back around 45 per cent. Automo bile production increased by fewer than 500 cars for the week ended February 23. Yet those inside the automobile trade will tel you that production for the first quarter of the year will be around million cars. It was 293,000 for January, probably 350,000 for February and need be only 350,000 for March to approximate a million for the quarter.

After that, motor car output will depend entirely on sales. No one can hazard even a good guess as to what these will be.

The best indication that industry generally is holding up well lies in electric power consumption data. It has varied less than half a point during the last four weeks. Another hint of underlying strength is the car-loading figure, which has been showing slightly more than seasonal improvement lately.

BUILDING The one almost hopeless factor is building. After the first brief flush of PWA activity a year ago, building has failed to show anything but slight occasional flurries, which never developed into a trend. The latest favorable flurry is in residential building. January contracts were up to $22,400,000, a 50 per cent improvement over December. The amount, of course; PWA contracts awarded by Secretary Ickes in Jan uary amounted to $36,000,000, which was about one-third of the volume in that month last year. There will be hope for building after the pending work relief bill passes, but not before.

The prices of only three commodities are relatively higher than farm and food prices now. That is, only the prices of building materials, hides-leather, and metals are nearer the 1926 level. And food prices are still going up.

The food price level for the January 12 week was 79.7 and by the February 16 week it was up to 83.1 in the official figures. But, for the same weeks, all other prices actually decreased slightly,

You Can't Bribe a Man To Approve Tainted Food His Own Family Must Eat -By Robert Quillen

There is one characteristic of war-especially the warfare of a small weak nation fighting for its freedom or elemental rights-that is more admirable and more worthy of emulation than any of the ways of peace. The peace-time business of men is the making of profit. It is a business inspired by the love of money, which love is the root of all evil, and its natural tendency is to bring out all that is base and des-

True, business can be and frequently is fair, humane and beneficial. But the pursuit of a profit often becomes and obsession which disregards all things that would make the profit less-and these things include honor, truth, justice and mercy.

A man in pursuit of profit may pity the poor after business hours, and share his wealth with them, yet keep his helpers poor because fair wages would reduce his profit. Or he may despise stingy men, after business hours, and deal generously with all of his acquaintances, yet refuse to spend a dime to lessen the discomfort of his tenants, lest it also lessen his profits. Or he may be truthful and rigidly honorable in all of his private and social relationships, and yet, in pursuit of a profit, deceive and defraud everybody who buys his quack product. War profiteers do these things, also, but men who are fighting for liberty or a sacred principle do not. And the fact that they have no interest in a money profit makes them immune to the base and sordid habits of greed.

They develop a loyalty, an unselfish devotion, a dependability and capacity for sacrifice unknown in time of peace.

If one is entrusted with a message, he delivers it despite all hardships and hazards-if he lives. He obeys his leader to the very letter; he keeps a tryst to the minute; his word is a holy pledge that needs no He serves for the joy of service, and he is incorruptible.

Perhaps the explanation is that he is playing a different game, with freedom rather than profit as the goal, and different conduct is needed Whatever the reason, his conduct is manly and admirable; and a nation of citizens equally devoted in time of peace would purge itself of all that is ignoble, unfair and harmful. (Copyright, 1935, for The Constitution.)

FAIR ENOUGH

Honest Man NEW YORK, February 28.—It turns Out of Head. out that our honest

Out of Head. out that our honest man, Frank Greges, wasn't so honest after all, but out of his head.

Our honest man was slopping along the street one day recently, packing sandwich boards fore and aft for $5 a week, when he kicked up a wallet containing $42,000 in negotiable stuff which had been dropped in the slush by a broker's messenger. A little too eagerly, we pegged him for an honest man, put him in the newsreels and the papers and made a June-bug celebrity of him. although a lot of us privately insisted that it was 8 to 5 that anybody who was down to packing a sandwich sign for $5 a week must be crazy to turn in $42,000 picked up on the street. It wasn't the normal thing to do. If it had been no story in it.

However, we fixed him up with a $20 joh and a suit of clothes and some $20 joh and a suit of clothes and some $20 joh and a suit of clothes and some $20 joh and a suit of clothes and some $20 joh and a suit of clothes and some $20 joh and a suit of clothes and some street.

However, we fixed him up with a $20 job and a suit of clothes and some odd presents of money and the first thing anybody knew, our honest man popped a string and began to rave. He yelled that he was God and that he could kill anybody with a look and, sure enough, when a man want rush street of the stage conferences. Senator Wagner, democrat, New York, one of the most active negotiators, reported at a late he will anybody with a look and, sure enough when a man want rush deadlock was near. He yelled that he was God and that he could kill anybody with a look and, sure enough, when a man went rushing up to see what was loose with him, our honest man put the glare on him and laid him dead. If this had happened a few centuries ago, people would have fallen on their faces all over town, because it isn't every man who can threaten to kill a person with a look and make good. It certainly looked as though the old man had called his shot but this is an age of science so they took the dead man apart over at the morgue and came up with the reassuring discovery that he had been like to die any minute anyway and had merely expired of shock and excitement. It was a relief shock and excitement. It was a relief

Ankling along through the crowds with his head down and talking to himself as a sandwich man for $5 a week he was just a harmless old josser whose eccentricity took no worse form than the return of $42,000 found in the snow.

There might be a big, broad lesson in this if you were to multiply the one case by several million. It turned out to be a cruel thing to pamper our honest man that way and there is no measuring the distress that might be caused if wholesale numbers of people who are better off miserable were sud-denly treated as Mr. Greges was. RICHMOND, Va., Feb. 28.—(P)—A negro who said he was satisfied to spend the rest of his life in prison "if they'll just let me alone," today came to the defense of the lawyer who defended him in the trial for his life on charges of murdering a Virginia society matron.

The captured man was Browning. He told police he knew his companions only by the names of "Hugh" and "Bill." He said he met them at a party at the home of Miss Cassie Palmer, who lives across the street from his home. County police took Mrs. Browning and Miss Palmer to Mrs. Browning and Miss Palmer to the courthouse where they were questioned. They were unable to shed any light on the exact identity of the two men, both women saying they knew the men only by their first names. They did not know where the men live. The women were not held.

County police late Thursday night arrested a second man, who gave the name of Hugh Lynch, and were holding him Friday morning for investigation in the attempted robbery. They were searching for "Bill" from descriptions furnished by Browning and his wife. Lynch was questioned at length.

Browning said his companions had watched the activities of Mrs. Walker and her husband for some time and had plotted a ride-rob. She saw a light switch on in the little house and then heard the voices of men. Presently Jim came back.

"There's a hotel about a quarter of a mile farther on in the town. The Jarage man says for us to walk and he'll get the car out in the morning."

Sherry looked down at the long white road. "All right. I'll take just one small bag. Lock the car. We'll have to leave the rest."

Sherry stepped out, going to her knees in the drifted snow. She buried her chin in her collar of the raccoon coat and it seemed hours before they came to the town and finally stamped up the steps of the hotel.

A night clerk nodded and looked up startled at the girl in the fur coat, covered with snow from head to foot and the middle-aged man in a chauffeur's uniform. The lobby was deserted, but the heat from a coal stove made it look less shabby.

Sherry sought the stove while Jim was registering. The clerk opened sleepy eyes with interest at the name, "Sherry Rose, New York city." written, across the register. He then led them upstairs and at last she found herself alone, stranded, in a bedroom which reminded her of her own room

When she awoke the next morning, the room was warm. She dressed in a brown woolen dress and went downstairs. It was about nine o'clock and there were several rather hawk-faced men in the lobby, smoking. Sherry looked at them a little puzzled and they eyed her suspiciously. A beautiful girl dressed in an imported frock in a third-rate hotel was indeed sufficient to arouse suspicion.

As the men continued to follow her movements, she turned to the hotel clerk, frowning, and asked, "Who are those men."

In China, it is different. There is an old custom, in many parts, of making such a gift on that birthday. The coffin is likely to be given by a son or grandson, and is meant to show love and good will.

This seems strange to us; but in China people commonly look upon death after the age of 60 as more of a blessing than an event of sadness. A Chinese may buy his own coffin on his 60th birthday, without waiting for someone to give it to him the next year.

The cost of a coffin is likely to run from $500 to $5,000. Some Chinese have made themselves poor for the rest of their lives by going into debt for the funerals of their parents. In recent years, I am glad to say, the custom of spending too much for coffins has been passing away, in China.

In an old-fashioned funeral, giant figures are carried in a parade. A man, partly hidden from sight, walks under each of the figures—which are likely to be from 10 to 14 feet tall. Other men, or boys, are hired to carry banners telling the deeds of the person who has died.

Hayes, Robert Montgomery and May Robson, brings to the screen with compelling spirit and drama the film version of Hugh Walpole's novel, "Vanessa: Her Love Story," which starts a week's run today at Loew's Grand theater.

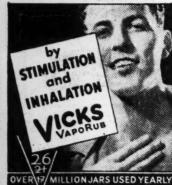

This is the final, modern episode in the history of the Herries family, descendants of the dashing, impulsive Rogue Herries, who came from the Cumberlands, near the Scotch border, who impetuously loved a Gypsy girl, whose restless blood still surges, now and then, beneath the composed demeanor of their children.

In the modern story, we encounter three members of the Herries family who have the boldness of old Rogue Herries and the wilfulness of his Gypsy bride. One is Judith Paris (May Robson), who is celebrating her 100th birthday when the story opens. To the party come many members of the family: Old Judith's favorite son (Lewis Stone) and his beautiful young daughter, Vanessa (Helen Hayes), Admiring eyes are upon Vanessa's fresh dark beauty. Ellis (Otto Kruger), one of the wealthiest members of the family, resolves, there and then, to marry her. Another Herries, a famous novelist (Henry Stephenson) glances shrewdly at Vanessa, detecting in her calm face the wider in fluences of her blood and ancestry.

Uninvited, undeterred by any considerations, comes young Reniy Herries to old Judith's birthday party. Judith is overjoyed to see Benjy, for she sympathizes with his restless, wilful nature and she soon guesses that Benjy and Vanessa are deeply, passionately, in love.

Victor Saville directed the feature, occasion, as well as Helen Morgan, greatest of torch singers; Ned Sparks, Robert Armstrong, Allen Jenkins. Alice White, Joe Cawthorn and Al Shean, who was Mr. Gallagher's partner not so many years ago.

They'll all be there, with scores of other singers, dancers, players, in Rudy Vallee's greatest film triumph, "Sweet Music," produced as only Warner Brothers who created film musicals, can make them.

Based on Jerry Wald's story which is said to be stronger in plot more.

Among many cleverly accentuated thrills that mark the drama is the sudden breaking-up of the famous Duchess of Richmond's ball at Brussels on Waterloo's Eve. Drowning the music the sullen booming of the distant French artillery speaks its message of doom.

Trumpets, the drumming assembly roll and the high, strident wail of the Highland bagpipes muster the British soldiers in battle array. The film then reveals the desperate struggle on the field of Waterloo.

On this same program will be seen an entertaining short titled, "Stranger Than Fiction" and a musical novelty titled "Million-Dollar Notes."

AT EDUCATORS' MEET ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Feb. 28. P)-The National Education Association's department of superintendence, nearing the close of its sixty-fifth an-nual convention today, failed to de-mand freedom in the teaching of new social doctrines in the nation's schools.

When the time arrived for the presentation of resolutions, the association's minority group which had been expected to offer a resolution of more or less radical nature, did nothing of the sort, and left the matter to the regular resolutions committee. This body presented a resolution, adopted by a viva voce vote, in which the educators reaffirmed "our unqualified belief in the principles of academic freedom for all workers in education."

"We favor the active co-operation of the department of superintendence with the National Education Association in the study of the problems of academic freedom," the resolution said.

The resolution was described as academic freedom," the resolution said.

The resolution was described as "painfully toothless" by Frederick H. Blair, superintendent of schools at Shaker Heights, Ohio, and following up his criticism, Blair offered an amendment, pledging the association to aid legally teachers attacked for introducing into their program any criticism of social conditions as they exist at present. The amendment was lost in another viva voce vote.

The educators also voted to support child labor legislation in cases where the health, intellectual and spiritual welfare of a child is imperiled, and voted in favor of better radio educational programs under the guidance, if necessary, of a committee of educators appointed by the president. interesting page of news and entirationment to our young people."

Friendly Counsel By CAROLINE CHATFIELD Problems of general interest submit-ted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

DEAR MISS CHATFIELD: I am engaged to a young man who is very good to me but he is so jealous that he doesn't think I should speak to a man or go anywhere without tell ing him shead of time. He has a ter ing aim anead of time. He has a terrible temper and doesn't mind showing it, regardless of where we may be or who is around. This causes me no end of embarrassment. His family has money and he doesn't work half the time. I have a job that keeps me busy and supports me. Yow there is any and supports me. Now there is another man somewhat older than I who asks me to go out with him occasionto lunch. If my fiance were to find it out he would almost kill me. Do you think I should let him spoil all my fun? I have gone with him so long I don't know quite how to break with him. What is your advice? H. H.

ANSWER:

A bully is easy to dispose of and the young man you describe is a bully. The next time he loses his temper and is rude to you get up and leave him, no matter where you are. That will cool him off as effectually as if you dashed cold-water in his face. Then when he comes back to call you to task or apologize gise tell him that you have taken dictation from him as long as you intend to, that hereafter you will reserve the right to go when and where and with whom you please and, furthermore, the next time he loses his temper and speaks rudely to you in public he may count himself out as far as you are concerned. Then when you have made yourself quite clear on these points you might add a little curtain lecture-on the subject of the rich man's son loafing simply because his father can support him. By this time he will pretty well understand that you have got his foot off your neck. He will have much more respect for you.

Now it is altogether likely that he is spoiled by his parents and by you. He has had his way, vented his temper, wreaked his jealous vengeance on you, made you afraid of him. When you declare your independence you will be free to have some association with other men, which evidently you

All men are somewhat selfish with the women they love and given cause, they are somewhat jealous. But when a man is so selfish that he considers only his own pleasure and doesn't hesitate to humiliate his girl before people when she displeases him, then it is high time for her to let him know she is no footmat and that she won't take what he tries to put on her.

Landor, the English poet, wrote some verses about a little girl who was playing with a bunch of fresh cowslips by the side of a stream. She pushed them under the water time and time again and was irritated and time again and was irritated when they came up. She kept on and on until the flowers were wilted and had lost their spirit. Finally she picked them up and threw them as far as her little strength would permit. Then she went on to some other game. There is a fine analogy there to the method of a bullyish man with a maid. He is irritated with her for resisting his pleasure but when he gets her down so she is afraid to resist him he loses interest in her and goes on to some other girl who has more

Lipstick and Rouge in Handsome

Some people just naturally have a gift for sending forth their products in beautiful containers. One Parisian manufactuer I know has just sent out on its way about as cute a pair of containers as I've ever seen. There is a small, round box not more than an inch in diameter, made of grained, brown wood with a little painted gold top which fastens tight with just one little turn. The whole thing isn't much more than an inch high. It contains a very, very fine cream rouge which, of course, comes in different shades. You would never regret this rouge, but if you don't need rouge you should buy it for the container.

The lipstick that goes with this little box is also made of wood and has a little gold top. Both of them have very tiny gold plates fastened on them which contain the name of the products. They are so small I don't see how they ever fastened them to

Culbertson on Contract By ELY CURBERTSON, World's Champion Player and Greates Card Analyist,

The Auction in Contract We have been asked by some playrs, beginners in the game of contract bridge, to state in simple terms the definition of an auction. There seems to be some confusion in their minds. I am always glad to clear up the perplexities encountered by those making their debut on the stage of contract.

The auction is that period during which any player in proper turn may make a call. A call comprises a pass, or bid, double or redouble. The auction begins when the deal is finished and ends when three players have passed a bid, double or redouble.

The dealer must open the auction by making the first call; thereafter each player in turn (clockwise) must make a call. If the dealer's first call is a pass, and the other three pass in turn after him, the hand is abandoned. In duplicate play the cards are returned to the board and the score marked as a "pass." In rubber play, the hands are thrown in and the deal passes to the next player on the left, who uses the other pack for a new deal.

If a player changes his call in practically the same breath, so that it is obviously to correct a slip of the tongue, the call stands as corrected. A player may not otherwise change any of his calls, except as provided under the law of "Insufficient Bids."

Bids."

All calls should be made simply, without undue emphasis or delay but in clear tone of voice. It should never be necessary for your opponents or partner to ask you to repeat your call.

2—By rebidding the shorter length, South indicates the six-five distribution.

3—North persists in the hope that South will take his word about the major suits and play for the ninetrick game instead of the 11 trick.

4—South decides that the minor suit game offers a better chance.

The Play.

West opened his top heart, East winning with the ace. Had East listened attentively to the bidding, he would have realized that if two additional tricks could be secured in the minor suits they could be obtained at any time; but the only chance to obtain another trick in the major suits was to return a spade immediately. But East supinely returned a trump, probably remembering the old adage, "When in doubt, lead trumps." The saying did not apply to this hand. Declarer took two rounds of trumps, ending with the jack in dummy and discarded his spade on the king of clubs. After this the opponents could take one diamond trick.

Had East returned a spade, West would have taken his ace, and, though declarer could have obtained three diamond discards on the established major suit cards in the dummy, he would still have had to lose to the king of diamonds. The Play.

FRENCH NAVAL HEAD

SEEKS NEW BATTLESHIP PARIS, Feb. 28.—(A)—Construction of the new 35,000-ton battleship was urged today before the chamber of deputies naval committee by naval Minister Francois Pietri, as "a necessity" in view of the Italian naval program.

Pietri said the ship must be laid down this year and a second one in 1936 in order to maintain French sea power and prestige. The heavy cost, he said, could be distributed over a period of five years.

Cost of the 35,000-ton vessel was announced last week as $47,000,000.

The Store All Women Know

Eddie Moore Will Leave Early for Daytona Beach Camp

Steam pops in the heating pipes of the office as the wires bring in their little stories from all the world.

But the one which intrigues most is the story of Malcolm Campbell waiting at the long sweep of Daytona Beach-waiting for the tides to smooth out the sand so that he may bring out his five-ton monster, which eats gas at the rate of 3 gallons per minute, and try to smash his own speed record of 273.432

Rather the story is one of Malcolm Campbell. (Come March 11 he will be 50 years old.)

A writer tells of his home in Surrey, an old English home, furnished with beautiful antiques; with a kennel of dogs, with children and guns. And there are his lands and his guns and shooting and fishing. There are beautiful gardens. He has wealth. Comfort and a quiet life (Come March 11 he will be 50 years old.) What is he doing, then, on a cold beach, fretting for a smothering tide which will smooth out that long stretch of stretch ahead of him.

What is he doing, far from the peaceful countryside of Surrey, in oil-stained clothes working with mechanics over this monster of his which he will try to drive 300 miles an hour? What is he doing 3,000 miles from home spending thousands of his own dollars in a job which needs only the smallest of accidents, the too-sudden lifting of a foot; the too-deep impression in the sand; the sudden breaking of a tire to change the blurring figure of his car into a hurtling wreck?

THE LOOK OF EAGLES.

He has the eyes—"the look of eagles"—
The great thoroughbred horses have it, that look in their

Lindbergh has that look in his eyes. I have seen it in Bobby Jones' eyes when he took that last squint at the pin. Dempsey had it when he came tearing out of his corner, snarling and hammering with tearing fists at Willard's great hulk that blazing hot day at Toledo. "The look of eagles"—it can't better be said.

But that isn't enough. There is something atavistic about this man Campbell who waits at Daytona Beach. He has all the wealth he needs, a devoted family, all the comforts which go with the desired life.

Yet when he isn't driving speeding cars he is off hunting adventure. Last time it was a lost reef of gold in Africa and he spent two lone nights in the desert while his crew flew out for more supplies.

He has driven in all the world-seeking more speed. In Denmark, in Africa, in England. He has hunted big game and he has adventured up and down the world.

This restless man always must remain a puzzle. He is a puzzle to himself. Some atavistic urge drives him on.

I thought of one of Rudvard Kipling's great stories, "The Greatest Story in the World." It was a story of the little tobacco clerk who, at times, could tell some story which came to his mind of a time when he toiled in the galleys with Eric, The Red, a story of privation and shipwreck and of ships grappled together with men, their bare cutlasses in their hands, going over the side to

He recalled how the line of water, as it reached the bulwark of a sinking ship, hung there for an instant, "like a bright pian wire stretched tight, and then crashed into the scuppers and covered the deck."

He fell in love, did the little tobacco clerk, and his story went from him.

And one wonders about Sir Malcolm Campbell-what old urge is in his mind that drives him on?

A story by an English writer quotes him as saying he would liked best the life of a pirate had he been living in the days of the old freebooters.

"There's a legion never listed, it carries no colors or crest-The legion of restless men.

SPEED RECORDS.

Speed records, land speed records, began in 1898 when a Frenchman, one Chasseloup-Laubat, drove a Jeantaud car at the amazing speed of 39 miles per hour.

A year later the speed was jumped to 65 miles per hour. One more year and it was up to 75 miles per hour.

The restless men began to take it up. Here was something new. Here was a new frontier. There were no more lands to discover, no more fighting for empire. The fight for empire

In 1905 the name of Henry Ford appears in the record, the first American to set a record. He drove a car 91 miles an hour on the surface of a frozen lake in Michigan. Few then paid any attention to the young mechanic named Henry Ford.

In 1904 William K. Vanderbilt drove a Mercedes 92 miles an hour but that same year two men drove better than 100 miles an hour.

STILL MORE SPEED.

From 1904 the American names crowd into the records. In 1910 Barney Oldfield drove a Benz 131 miles per hour. Nine years later Ralph de Palma drove a Packard 149 miles

One year later Tommy Milton drove a car better than 150 miles per hour.

And then the American names begin to fade. The English, the greatest of explorers, began to explore speed and become better at it than any other nation-just as they were the greatest at expanding empire when the world's horizons began to

They push it up-J. Parry Thomas 168 miles per Malcolm Campbell 174 miles per hour. . . . H. O. D. Seagrave pushed it over the hitherto impossible 200 miles per hour mark in 1927. . . . Campbell bettered it the next year. . . . Then an American and then Seagrave again in 1929 but from that time on the name is Campbell. . . . 246 miles per hour. . . . 253 miles per hour. . . . 273 miles per hour . . . more speed always the retreating frontier and the man to challenge . . .

Someone explain this man to me-this man from the fields of Surrey who waits at Daytona Beach for a tide to smooth the

'GEORGIA' FACES

Treadaway, Hollis, Johnson and Green in Tulane Backfield.

ATHENS, Ga., Feb. 28.—The idea of playing imaginary opponents on Friday afternoon with the Georgia spring football squad taking the part of both "Georgia" and the imaginary opponent has proven to be quite a hit with the students and townspeople. As for the football squad and the coaches, they have the time of their life on these Friday afternoon dress parades. All of this has been discovered by the athletic department since last Friday when "Georgia" played "Alabama" to a scoreless tie on Sanford field before 1,000 spectators.

For these reasons, Coach Harry Mehre will resume his Friday after-noon grand stand seat and watch "Georgia" battle "Tulane" in the sec-ond of the Friday afternoon dress pa-

Charley Treadaway, who will be the senior quarterback at Georgia next fall, will be calling the signals for the "Tulane" team. Although this "Tulane" will not use the usual Tulane spinners, laterals and reverses, Quarterback Treadaway will give the spectators some thrills with his daredevil playing.

Besides Treadaway there will be Maurice Green, fullback; Glenn Johnson, right half, and Jeff Hollis in the "Tulane" backfield. With Green's mighty kicking, Coaches Rex Enright and Tiger Bennett will have the stronger of the backfields.

Coaches Vernon "Catfish" Smith and Weems Baskin will have "Cy" Young, quarter; Andy Roddenberry, left half; Jim Cavan, right half, and Bill Hartman, fullback, for their "Georgia" backfield. With the exception of Cavan these players are all from the freshman squad.

"Georgia" will have Buddy Milner playing at right end. This will be one of Milner's first performances in his new position and the coaches are anxious to see if he will display the same fight at ead that made him famous at center.

MANAGER GOES TO 'GET READY'

Pitchers and Catchers Report Three Days Later; Cobb Goes.

By Jimmy Jones.

The first of the Crackers to report at the Daytona Beach camp—and such is indeed fitting—will be the manager himself.

Eddie Moore, resplendent in a natty brown overcoat and hat to match, dropped by yesterday to announce that he an: Mrs. Moore would leave the city Sunday week, March 10, for the Florida base of operations and that he will scout the park and layout there preparatory to the arrival of his pitchers and catchers on Wednesday, March 13.

"There isn't much more that I can

"There isn't much more that I can do here," Mr. Moore declared. And his observation is just about correct. The Crackers, virtually all of whom are signed to contracts, are so well lined up for the time of year that the manager hasn't anything left to do until practice starts.

ONE WORKOUT A DAY.

Mr. Moore reaffirmed his previous announcement of only one workout a day, in the middle of the day, after which the boys may play golf, cards, fish or sit around the hotel and chew the rag.

Eddie, who is a sound baseball man with better than the average amount of common sense, will launch his first year as a manager with a minimum number of restrictions. He has been a ball player, himself, for 14 years and realizes that over-emphasis of complex rules and regulations is just as apt to have the opposite effect de-sired.

The new Cracker manager will have no Pinkertons, or "stoolies," as the ball players call them somewhat contemptuously, shadowing their movements. The same freedom will be theirs on the field of play.

"When they go up there to bat, they won't have to be looking back, or when they're out there pitching, they need not get cricks in their necks looking over at me," Manager Moore explained.

By Jack Troy.

Oglethorpe and "Mercer" square off this afternoon in a full exhibition game, closing the spring training season. The kick-off is scheduled at 2:30, at Hermance field.

It is the first opportunity Oglethorpe has had in several years to close the training sessions with a game because in the past there have not been sufficient reserves to make up a creditable second team.

There is no trouble on this score, however. Oglethorpe is well fixed as to reserves, considering there will be replacements for players of both teams today.

Leek MeNevely, the Vescel box and office for Moral and scholing over at me," Manager Moore explained.

This pronunciamento from a man who was known as a "ball player's ball player" when he played for Mc-graw, Robby, Hornsby and others in the big leagues, may have a somewhat salutary effect upon the morale of storamped and stiff under the cold and exacting serutiny of Spencer Abbott last year. Like Lot's wife of the Scriptures, they looked back once or twice too many on every trip up.

TOO HARD ON THEM.

Spencer, a stern disciplinarian of the old school, insisted on wig-wagging curve balls to the pitchers and "take" signs to the hitters, with the result that some of the bappeagrance.

Oglethorpe will use the double wing back in the first half and will oppose the single-wing back as employed by "Mercer." They'll change in the second half.

Coach John Patrick, beginning his second year as alumni head coach, will turn over the two teams to assistant coaches and watch the game from a point of vantage.

It's to be quite a heated battle because players will naturally be fighting for positions. It will mean a great deal to be a regular because medals are to be awarded at the end of the fall season to best blockers, tacklers, passers, etc.

Proceeds from today's game will be used to purchase the medals. Admission is 25 cents for visitors and 15 cents for students.

Man Who Brought Babe to Yanks Sees Big Year for Him.

By Ralph McGill.

The man who put over the deal hich sent Babe Ruth from Boston New York 15 years ago, thinks e deal which sends Ruth from New rrk back to Boston is the finest thing that could have happened to the National league.

He was sitting with the other vege-table growers yesterday in a room filled with smoke listening to them debate this and that and urging a tax on nonproducing peddlers.

He did not look like a man who had put over baseball's biggest deal—the purchase of George Herman (Babe) Ruth from the Boston Red Sox for the mere sum of $120,000

It was easy. But the colone stands very high with the vegetable people. He has paid the bill for a great deal of experiment in south Georgia along the Golden Isles and some day that section will be a monument to him—producing great quantities of vegetables and stopping all this foolishness of having them shipped in from the west coast.

THE BEST THING.

"I know what you want to ask," he said, "and I think it's the finest thing that could happen to baseball, especially the National league.

"The Boston club was in a bad way. The rest of the league didn't draw so well despite the fact they won the pennant. The Giants didn't draw so well despite the fact they were in the race until the last week.

"They talk about Babe Ruth's value to baseball. This is an illustration. If he can play 100 games this year he will help all clubs in the National league to make money.

"Man, can you picture the Polo Grounds when the Babe comes to town? And the park won't hold the people at St. Louis when the Braves come there for a series with Ruth to face the Dean brothers.

"And when those clubs come to see the games. Why, the other clubs in the National league should be willing to pay a part of his salary. This is a real illustration of what is meant by his value to baseball.

"I think they can expect the Babe."

"It has been the vegetable and stopping that the vith and not rouble the difference was. I had no trouble with my legs at all on this last trip. They felt great. ONE MORE SPRING.

When you are young, you take them in your stride, These springs that follow winter's swirl of snow— The first soft touch of sun—the golden ride
The moon takes on its way to April's glow—
The first faint flowers and the birds that sing— You take them all for granted-spring by spring.

But when the gray first creeps into your hair And all the marching years have passed you by—
You know what spring means—golden days and fair,
When the deep blue first creeps into the sky—
And somehow youth comes stalking down the plain With its lost dreams through sunlight and through rain.

Just one more spring-I'll lift my glass today To all the ghosts and dreams that you bring back— Fields that were faint with star-dust on the way— Voices that call from some forgotten track-Many no longer hear the song you bring, But still a few can whisper-one more spring!

By Bob Cavagnaro. NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—(P)—The nucleus of America's 1935 Davis cup team already has been formed with Wilmer Allison, Sidney B. Wood Jr.,

Wood's selection carries with it a singles assignment. Allison, who heads the first ten, may be used either for singles or as a doubles partner of Van Ryn. PLANS UNKNOWN. Just what the U. S. L. T. A. plans to do with the youngsfers, assuming they are sent abroad, is not known.

Budge and Mako may be used for doubles duty in which event Allison would play singles. Otherwise Van Ryn and Allison would have the dou-bles call as a more experienced com-The purpose of including Parker would be to afford him international Bogers Girls defeated W. T. Grant Girls, 43 to 25, in a regular league game. The game was a hard-fought one, but the Rogers team displayed a superior passing attack over their opponents and were able to find the basket more frequently.

It is probable that six players will be banded together for America's first match against China's cup seekers. All of them may be sent to England for European zone play.

After the second match, however, the American players may be grouped at the Merion Cricket Club, outside Philadelphia, for a brief period before embarking for Europe. Present plans call for the squad to arrive in England in June.

BONDS.

By FRANK MacMILLEN.
NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—(P)—The spirit appeared to be willing but the flesh was a little weak in today's financial markets.

Stocks were a bit droopy after a fairly good start, commodities sagged and the dollar turned heavy in rela-tion to leading gold currencies while maintaining an advance against ster-ling. Bonds got nowhere in particu-lar, although scattered rail liens man-aged to emerge with small gains.

The failure of carrier equities to follow through on their rally of the who envisaged a reversal of the recent downtrend. At the same time it was realized in brokerage circles, that yes-terday's recovery was half-hearted at the best and probably was due almost entirely to technical factors.

The one encouraging feature of today's final February proceedings was that when stocks began to slip the trading volume died down quickly. The turnover amounted to only 573,540 shares compared with Wednesday's to-tal of 946,588. The Associated Press average for 60 selected issues was off .1 of a point at 37.6. On the month this composite lost one full point.

Picture Not Bright. ders had been easily filled at higher levels. The transportation picture was not exceptionally bright.

In addition to rail uncertainties,
Wall Street seemed to be a trifle disturbed over the New Deal's setbacks in the courts and the possibility that the recovery program of the adminis-tration may be further questioned. The prediction of Secretary Wallace that food prices would advance some 11 per cent by next July did not aid sentiment. Just what the con-tinued upward trend of living costs will do to stocks was anybody's guess. Much interest was expressed in another advance of the price of bar gold in London to a new high record. The rate was equivalent to $35.02 an

U. S. STEEL TO SEEK MANAGEMENT CHANGE

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.-(A)-Important changes in management poli-cies of the United States Steel Corporation will be proposed for the stock-holders approval at the annual meeting on April 1, it was learned today. STOCK OPINIONS.

FENNER & BEANE—We would not expect the decline to carry far and would favor purchases of sound industrial stocks for trading purposes on any recessions.

COURTS & CO.—The present sentiment of traders and the public seems to indicate a very narrow trading range.

DOBBS & CO.—There is a somewhat better sentiment in financial circles and it appears possible that liquidation is finished for the time being, and there may well be some short covering and reinstatement of long positions before the week-end.

ABBOTT, PROCTOR & PAINE—With speculative opportunities so limited we be-Telephone, Chesapeake & Ohio, Liggett & Myers, Worth and Loew's.

BEER & CO.—The inability of the rally to carry through Thursday makes a cautious trading policy advisable.

COURTS & CO.—We feel that overhang-COURTS & CO.—We feel that overhanging in Washington uncertainties and renewed churning of foreign exchange are preventing a price rise.

HUBBARD BROS. & CO. TO DOBBS & CO.—On the whole, it would appear that the spot situation stands between the maxiket and anything more than temporary decline, and that we need the backing of more active consuming demand to sustain advances.

more active consumpr demand to sustain advances.

AFBOTT, PROCTOR & PAINE—The advancing of the price of gold and the declination in the price of sterling should have been a stimulating effect at Liverpool but as yet there is no evidence of a desire to espouse the buying cause.

BEER & CO.—The rise of the gold price in London to an all-time high, the equivalent of $35.016 in American value is causing much interest and is believed by the trade to have a bullish portent.

FENNER & BEANE—An improvement in e European demand would find a quick flection in bettering the wheat market

ABBOTT, PROCTOR & PAINE—The speculative interest is so low that orders ei-ther way may readily influence wheat Sales (In 100s.) Div. High.Low.Close.Chg.

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—(A)—Coton prices sagged today in response to relatively easy Liverpool cables and some further near-month liquidation. The market closed steady, at net declines of 3 to 8 points.

Trade interests bough March at discounts of about 11 points under May, and there was a scattering demand for later deliveries, but prices gradually eased and closed within 2 points of the lowest.

SLIGHT LOSSES SHOWN IN NEW ORLEANS COTTON NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 28.—(P)—The cotton market was very quiet today and prices were a shade easier although the range was not very wide. Liquidation by tired longs and a little trade buying furnished most of the business. Easier sterling and indifferent cables, coupled with sluggish outside markets, were additional causes for the easier tone.

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—(P)—A good demand for lower priced railroad issues featured the bond market again today. A steady tone in first-grade corporate loans was offset by softness in United States governments.

The turnover expanded to $14.207,000, par value, against $12,911,000 on Wednesday with the major portion of trading concentrated in secondary issues. The bond turnover for the month of February aggregated $224.851,000, par value, compared with $330,546,000 in January.

Although the railroad picture was further clouded by the Chicago Great Western's petition for reorganization under the bankruptcy act, and omission of the interest due tomorrow on the consolidated bonds of the Denver & Rio Grande Western, there were many firm spots in the lower priced division of the market.

many firm spots in the lower priced division of the market.

Among the favorites gaining a point or more were Baltimore & Ohio refunding 6s at 73, Panhandle 5s at 72, Nickel Plate 5 1-2s at 68, and Illinois Central 4 3-4s at 53. Others selling higher included obligations of the Southern Railway, Western Pacific, and Kansas City Southern.

In the industrial and utility section a moderately even tone prevailed. Childs Co. 5s were 1 1-4 higher at 59 3-4, and Paramount 5 1-2s gained 2 points at 48 1-2. Other issues selling higher included obligations of American Telephone, Warren Bros., Laclede Gas, Portland General Electric and Utah Light & Traction. The Associated Press averages were unchanged to 4 of a point higher.

United States government obligations were uniformly lower with declines up to 5-32ds sprinkled among the treasuries.

There was not much activity in the foreign section.

DENVER & RIO GRANDE DELAY PAYING INTEREST

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—(P)—Directors of the Denver & Rio Grande Western Railroad today omitted interest due tomorrow on its first consolidated mortgage bonds pending completion of a plan of readjustment.

A special committee of directors was appointed and instructed to proceed with the completion of a plan to be with the completion of a plan to be submitted to the board at a meeting not later than March 21.

(UP)—Ty Cobb, Detroit baseball immortal, came to his son's assistance today as the youth. Hershel Cobb, 19. prepared for arraignment on battery charges brought by parents of Julia Conner, 19. The former baseball player announced he would "see that this case is thoroughly investigated, so that there will be no further reflection on my son or anyone else." He expressed confidence the boy had not been guilty of the actions outlined in the complaint, which alleged young Cobb beat the girl after asking to take her home from a soda fountain on the night of February 12. With another couple in the automobile, the plaintiff charged, they went to a cabin on Redwood avenue, where young Cobb allegedly made advances to her, and struck her when she resisted. The complaint said young Cobb then promised to take Miss Connor home, but drove toward the hills instead. Miss Connor said she leaped from the car, but Cobb chased her, caught up with her and beat her with his fists. BIG PAY ROLL GAIN SEEN FOR TOBACCO CO. WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., Feb. 28. (P)—R. J.
